RESTORE YOUR VOTE

I HAVE A FELONY CONVICTION. CAN I VOTE?

Many returning citizens assume their state restricts their right to vote. But that's not true!

Most states restore the right to vote to people after they complete their sentences. In fact, up to 17 million Americans with past convictions can vote right now - they just don't know it because felony disenfranchisement laws in every state can be confusing.

Campaign Legal Center has launched a website and on-the-ground campaign to help people with past convictions in all 50 states know their rights. We have researched the felony disenfranchisement laws in every state and are here to help.
