Introduction

In Alabama, the law regarding which people with past convictions can and cannot vote has been confusing. In 2017, the Alabama Legislature passed a new law clarifying the rules and likely enfranchising tens of thousands or more Alabamians. There are likely tens of thousands more Alabamians with past convictions who are eligible to receive a mandatory voting rights restoration if they apply.

But these laws will only empower voters if they know about their eligibility. Many people with convictions assume they are not eligible and many people with convictions have been wrongly told they are not eligible. This manual is designed to provide all the tools citizens with convictions, activists, and advocates need to help people in Alabama know if they can vote or to restore their right to vote.

Felony disenfranchisement laws silence the voices of over 6 million citizens who are banned from the polls today. As many as 75 percent of these disenfranchised voters are no longer in prison but are unable to vote.

Citizens with past felony convictions work and pay taxes. They should have a say in deciding their communities' and the nation's laws that directly impact their lives. Denying these citizens with past felony convictions the opportunity to fully integrate as members of society sends the message that they will permanently be treated as second-class citizens. Studies have shown that restoring the vote to persons leaving prison could aid their transition back into community life.

In addition, felony disenfranchisement laws are largely the legacy of the Jim Crow era. They continue to primarily impact people of color and therefore distort our democracy. Nearly half of voters disenfranchised through these laws are black. Disenfranchisement not only impacts citizens with past convictions but also disempowers the minority groups to which they belong.

Some U.S. states have no restrictions on voting, while others have a lifetime ban upon conviction. Twelve states, including Alabama, permanently disenfranchise some or all citizens convicted of felony offenses.

Alabama's law prevents some people from ever voting again even after they have fully served their sentence, while others are only able to restore their rights if they affirmatively apply. Alabama is one of 11 other states that restrict voting rights even after a person has served his or her prison sentence and is no longer on probation or parole. Based on the most recent estimates Alabama's law disenfranchises over 286,000 people in the state: 7.6% of the entire state-wide voting-age population and 15.1% of the adult black male voting-age population.¹

It is no surprise that Alabama's disenfranchisement scheme has such a stark disparate impact on communities of color; it was intentionally designed that way in a 1901 constitutional convention to "establish white supremacy." The law disenfranchised people who were convicted of "crimes of moral turpitude,” a purposefully vague phrase that gave discretion over who could vote to individual county registrars. Pastor Kenneth Glasgow faced this confusing barrier to voting upon returning home from prison in 2001. Glasgow started an organization of formerly incarcerated people, The Ordinary People's Society (TOPS), and began helping others to restore their voting rights. In 2008, he successfully sued the state to start removing barriers to voting for people with felony convictions, beginning with allowing Glasgow access to prisons to bring his voting rights campaign there. But the state did not provide clarity on which convictions would strip a person of the right to vote until 2017 after years of campaigning from activists like Glasgow and TOPS.

Alabama's new law clarifies which convictions disqualify a person from voting, effectively giving the right to vote back to a large number of people who had lost or thought they had lost that right. For others who are disqualified, they may be able to restore their rights through a simple application to the state.

This manual first details how you can determine what a person's path to rights restoration will look like: if they ever lost their right to vote, whether they can apply to the state to have it restored, if they will need to remit their fines and fees, or if they will need a pardon. It also includes template versions of the paperwork a person may need to complete and contact information for some groups who can help further.

We hope that this information and material will be of use to anyone who seeks to strengthen democracy and their communities by empowering those whose voices have been silenced by felony disenfranchisement.

Working with Disenfranchised Citizens

When assisting people with convictions, it is important to keep in mind that they may have particular sensitivities and privacy concerns. So, please:

- Be welcoming and personable. Understand that there can be guilt and stigma associated with having a criminal record.
- Be patient. The person you are helping may be emotional or nervous in recalling the details of their conviction. Be aware that other issues may be involved, such as mental health concerns or disability. The person may need assistance with reading and writing.
- Respect the privacy of the person you are assisting. Keep the conversation private by speaking at a reasonable volume and finding a space away from others. All assistance should be confidential.
- Do not pry into their personal business. Questions of innocence or morality regarding their conviction are irrelevant to rights restoration and should not be discussed.
- Do not pass judgment. It is important to enter this work aware of your own biases. Be mindful of your tone of voice and facial expressions. Do not talk down to the people you are assisting.

The bottom line is to remember that all people deserve dignity and respect.

The Path to Rights Restoration

This section details the steps to determining the voting rights of people with convictions in Alabama. It will help you determine whether an individual has the right to vote or has the ability to restore their right to vote. It includes many details to thoroughly give information about a range of possible situations. But for most people, rights restoration is not complicated and many of these footnotes and tips will not apply. Helping someone restore their rights can be as simple as glancing at the list of disqualifying convictions. If a person does not have a conviction on the disqualifying list, they can immediately register to vote. Even if a person needs to fill out the required paperwork to restore their rights, it often should not take more than ten minutes.

After you have read through this section or helped a few people through the process, it may be easier to refer to the short Rights Restoration Worksheet and the following flow chart when assisting a person with a conviction.

Step 1: Checking whether the person's conviction was disqualifying

In May 2017, Alabama passed a new law that effectively re-enfranchised many people who had lost their right to vote or thought that they had lost it because of their conviction(s).

Ask the person you are helping if they remember their exact conviction(s). Check the list on page 16 to see if the conviction(s) is on the list. If it is NOT on that list, the person never lost their right to vote. That means that they are eligible to register to vote now and need not take additional steps except for registering like all other citizens. This is true regardless of whether they are currently incarcerated² and whether they owe any legal financial obligations to the state. Skip to step 2 for information on registration.

If a person does have a disqualifying conviction, skip to step 3 for more information about rights restoration.

TIPS:

- Ask about the degree of a person's conviction. Many convictions in the third degree are not on the list, such as burglary 3rd.
- There are no drug-related crimes on the list except trafficking. Distribution and possession convictions are not disqualifying.

² People who have not lost their right to vote but are incarcerated are entitled to vote by absentee ballot. See part VI.

For more information or assistance, call 202-736-2200 or visit
<http://www.campaignlegalcenter.org/news/blog/alabama-voting-rights-restoration-toolkit>

- Crimes prosecuted under the youthful offender statutes³ are not disqualifying.
- Federal and out-of-state convictions may be disqualifying if their definitions mirror the state law crime on the disqualifying list.

It is important to know that many people were wrongly told by the state that they had lost their right to vote before the 2017 law went into effect. If someone was told by the state, often by having their registration rejected or receiving a notice in the mail, that they had lost the right to vote before August 2017, there is a very real possibility that the information was incorrect. In other words, questions about a person's right to vote are not resolved by information they received from the state before August 2017.

Sometimes people cannot remember their exact convictions, maybe because they occurred a long time ago or because they were charged with something different than what they were convicted of. If this is the case, we - or another group - can help them look it up in the state's database. Please give us a call at 202-736-2200. Additionally, any attorney in Alabama with access to Alacourt can access this information. A person can also check in with the Board of Pardons and Paroles or local courthouse to access this information as well. Feel free to contact us for assistance.

Step 2: Registering to vote

A person may register to vote by filling out an online form, filling out and mailing to their local or the statewide board of registrar's office the paper registration form found on pages 17-18, or by going to their local registrar's office in-person.

- To register online visit <http://sos.alabama.gov/alabama-votes/voter/register-to-vote>.
- To register by mail: Fill out the form on pages 17-18 and mail it to your local board of registrars office, addresses are found here: <http://sos.alabama.gov/alabama-votes/board-of-registrars-all-counties>.

- To register in person: Visit your local board of registrars office.

The deadline to register to vote is 15 days before an election. For up to date information on upcoming elections and deadlines, visit <http://sos.alabama.gov/alabama-votes/voter/upcoming-elections>

Occasionally people who are qualified to vote are denied registration by error. If you have determined that someone is eligible to vote and helped them register, you should check this website after 14 days to see if they are registered to vote:

<https://myinfo.alabamavotes.gov/VoterView/RegistrantSearch.do> or call 1-800-274-8683.

³ Ala. Code § 15-19-1(-7).

For more information or assistance, call 202-736-2200 or visit <http://www.campaignlegalcenter.org/news/blog/alabama-voting-rights-restoration-toolkit>

If they are not in the system after two weeks, you can follow up with the local board of registrars office or call Campaign Legal Center at 202-736-2200 and we will follow up.

Step 2(a). Registering incarcerated people to vote

If you are working with people who are currently incarcerated, step 1 should be performed in the same way as described above. Unfortunately, if a person who is incarcerated has been convicted of a disqualifying felony, they will not be able to restore their rights until their sentence is complete.

However, if an incarcerated person has not been convicted of a disqualifying felony, then they retain the right to vote. Their path to registration and casting their ballot, however, may be more complicated than for someone who is not incarcerated.

TIP: It is best to have an incarcerated person fill out the paperwork required under A and B, below, in one visit.

A. Registering to vote

The first step towards voting while incarcerated is to register to vote, either by mail or online. See above, Step 2. If a person wishes to vote at their last address before being incarcerated, they may, or they may use the address of the facility at which they are incarcerated.

The deadline to register to vote is fifteen days before an election.

B. Requesting an absentee ballot

People who are incarcerated can vote only by absentee ballot. They must fill out a form to request the ballot (pages 19-20).

- A person who is detained outside of the county of their residence should mark the box stating that they will be out of the county on Election Day.⁴ A person who is detained inside their county of residence should mark the box that states they are unable to vote because of a physical illness or infirmity.⁵ A person who will use the address of the facility in which they are incarcerated as their residential address should similarly mark that they are unable to vote because of a physical illness or infirmity.

- Absentee ballot requests are specific to particular elections and will only cover elections within 42 days of each other. Practically speaking, this means a person will likely have to fill out a new application to receive a ballot for every primary and general election.

⁵ Id.

For more information or assistance call, 202-736-2200 or visit
<http://www.campaignlegalcenter.org/news/blog/alabama-voting-rights-restoration-toolkit>

- Applications for absentee ballot must be received five days before an election. You may need to build in extra time to ensure that the ballot is received on time.
- Send each application in a separate envelope to the Absentee Election Manager in the county in which the voter is registered. The list of addresses for these managers can be found online at <http://sos.alabama.gov/alabama-votes/absentee-election-manager-all-counties>.

C. Casting an absentee ballot

The absentee ballot should arrive by mail. You may assist the voter by giving instructions on how to properly submit the ballot, but should otherwise not be involved with the process of the casting the ballot.

The absentee ballot comes with three envelopes one plain (the secrecy envelope), one with an affidavit, or oath, printed on the outside, and one plain, pre-addressed envelope (the outer envelope). Once the voter casts the ballot, the procedure is as follows:

- i. Voter seals the ballot in the plain envelope
- ii. Voter places the plain envelope inside the accompanying affidavit envelope
- iii. Voter seals the affidavit envelope and completes the affidavit that is on the outside of the envelope
- iv. Voter signs the affidavit and has the signature witnessed by two witnesses 18 years of age or older
- v. Voter places the affidavit envelope and a COPY of voter identification inside the outer envelope

The ballot should be returned by mail and must be postmarked no later than the day prior to the election or received by the Absentee Election Manager no later than noon on Election Day.

Do not return multiple ballots in one envelope.

2(b). Voter ID requirements

Voters in Alabama are now required to present photo identification at the polls or to enclose a copy of identification in their absentee ballot application.

The following forms of ID are acceptable:

- Valid Driver's License
- Valid Nondriver ID
- Valid Alabama Photo Voter ID
- Valid State-Issued ID (Alabama or any other state)

- Valid Military ID
- Valid Tribal ID

If you do not possess one of these forms of ID, you are eligible to receive a free voter ID. To get a free voter ID you must go in person to your local Board of Registrars, the Secretary of State's office in Montgomery, or to one of the roving mobile units, the schedules for which are posted online.

3. Requesting a Certificate of Eligibility to Register to Vote (CERV) for people with disqualifying convictions

Even if someone has a disqualifying conviction, as determined under step one, that does not mean they can never vote. Many people with convictions are eligible to restore their right to vote through a simple application process. Voters who meet the eligibility requirements for a CERV must be given a CERV that will allow them to register to vote within 44 days; it is not a discretionary process.

A . Determine eligibility for a CERV

A person is eligible if they meet all of the following four criteria:

- i. They do not have a conviction of impeachment, murder, rape, sodomy, sexual abuse, sexual crimes against children, or treason. (If they do have one of these convictions, skip to step 5 of this section);

For more information or assistance, call 202-736-2200 or visit
<http://www.campaignlegalcenter.org/news/blog/alabama-voting-rights-restoration-toolkit>

- ii. They do not have any felony charges currently pending;
- iii. They do not owe any outstanding fines, fees, or restitution from the disqualifying conviction (if they do, skip to step 3 of this section);

- It is important to note that outstanding fines, fees, or restitution are only relevant to voting rights if they are connected to a disqualifying conviction. For example, if someone has a conviction of Burglary 2nd (disqualifying) and Burglary 3rd (not disqualifying) and owes fines and fees under the Burglary 3rd conviction, they do not owe any relevant fines or fees for purposes of the CERV.
 - For those who are not sure whether they owe fines, fees, or restitution, or are not sure which conviction they are connected with, this information can be looked up by us, another group, or they may call the Board of Pardons and Paroles to request it.

- If they do owe disqualifying fines, fees, or restitution, skip to step 4.

- iv. Their sentence for the disqualifying conviction must be complete, including all probation and parole. If this is not yet the case, they can apply for a pardon (see step 5).

B. If eligible, fill out the form to request a CERV

If a person meets all of the above criteria, they are eligible for a CERV. CERVs are not discretionary – if a person meets the criteria the state must grant it within 44 days.⁶ There are four ways to apply for a CERV:

- i. In person: The person you are assisting may go in person to the local Board of Pardons and Paroles office and fill out a form there. The address for this office in each county can be found at: <http://www.pardons.state.al.us/Offices.aspx>.

This may be the best option for ensuring that a CERV is granted in a timely manner.

- ii. By Mail: Fill out and mail in the form on pages 21-22.

The person you are assisting - or you - should fill out as much information as possible. If you do not have some information or a section does not apply to the person you are helping, that may be okay as long as the form includes the person's name, mailing address, date of birth, list of all convictions (using the back if necessary), and their signature.

Important: The form must be signed.

⁶ AL Code § 15-22-36.1(c)-(f).

Mail the form to the local Board of Pardons and Paroles office found here, <http://www.pardons.state.al.us/Offices.aspx>, OR to

The Alabama Board of Pardons and Paroles
PO Box 302405 Montgomery, AL 36130-2405

If you are working with a community organization, we recommend asking if you can make a record of the person's name and contact information, and note the date the request was sent, so that you may follow up with that person in 44 days to ensure that the CERV has arrived. If it has not, it is worth following up with the Board of Pardons and Paroles to find the root of the delay. Campaign Legal Center is tracking lengthy delays; please report these incidents to us.

iii. By Phone: Call the Board of Pardons and Paroles at (334) 353-7771 or (334) 353-8067

iv. By Email: Email the form or all of the information requested on the form to pardons@paroles.alabama.gov, subject line: Request for "Certificate of Eligibility to Register to Vote."

After the person has received their CERV in the mail, they should make a copy and attach it to their completed voter registration form before submitting it to the state.

4. Request for remission of fines and fees

If a person owes outstanding fines, fees, or restitution that were imposed because of the disqualifying conviction, they are not yet eligible to restore their right to vote through the CERV process. They may, however, ask the Board of Pardons and Paroles to reduce or forgive those fees.

If the person has outstanding fines, fees, or restitution but they were imposed in connection with a conviction that was not a disqualifying felony, they are not a barrier to restoring the person's rights or registering to vote.

If the person is not sure whether they owe fines, fees, or restitution or are unsure of which conviction they are related to, we or another organization with access to Alacourt can help them find out.

A person can request a reduction or forgiveness of fines, fees, or restitution:
-By filling out the form on pages 23-24 and mailing it to The Alabama Board of Pardons

For more information or assistance, call 202-736-2200 or visit
<http://www.campaignlegalcenter.org/news/blog/alabama-voting-rights-restoration-toolkit>

and Paroles, PO Box 302405, Montgomery, AL 36130-2405,
-By calling the Board of Pardons and Paroles at 334-353-7771 or 334-353-8067),
-Or by emailing a completed form or all the information requested on the form to pardons@paroles.alabama.gov, subject line: "Request for Remission of Fines and Fees"

The Board can only reduce or forgive fines and fees that have been imposed by the state of Alabama, not by other states or the United States government.⁷

5. Request for a pardon

If someone has a conviction of murder, rape, sodomy, sexual abuse, or sexual crimes against children, they are not eligible for a CERV but may still be able to restore their right to vote by seeking a pardon from the Board of Pardons and Paroles. Additionally, a person who is not eligible for a CERV because they are still on probation or because they owe outstanding fines and fees may also apply for a pardon. A person is not eligible for a pardon if they have been convicted of treason, impeachment, or if a death sentence has been imposed and not commuted.⁸

A pardon may be requested:

1. in writing: The Alabama Board of Pardons and Paroles, P.O. Box 302405, Montgomery, AL 36130-2405;
2. by phone: 334-353-7771 or 334-353-8067; or
3. by email: pardons@paroles.alabama.gov.

⁷ More information can be found on the Board of Pardons and Paroles' website: http://www.pardons.state.al.us/Rules.aspx#Article_Nine.

⁸ More information on pardons is found online with the Board of Pardons and Paroles: http://www.pardons.state.al.us/Rules.aspx#Article_Eight.

Know Your Rights! Voting in Alabama for People with Convictions

Who can vote?

Under Alabama law, you have the right to vote if: You are a United States Citizen; you reside in Alabama; you are at least 18 years old; you have not been legally declared “mentally incompetent” by a court; you have not been convicted of a disqualifying felony listed on the back of this page.

What is a disqualifying felony?

As of August 2017, disqualifying felonies are only those listed on the back of this page. If you have not been convicted of one of the crimes listed on the back of this page, you do not have a disqualifying felony conviction and are eligible to vote.

What if I want to vote but my registration was rejected?

Before August 2017, the definition of disqualifying felonies was left up to individual registrars. This meant that some people were wrongly told they were ineligible to vote. If you have NOT been convicted of a disqualifying felony, you ARE able to register right now, even if you were incorrectly told that you were ineligible.

If I have a disqualifying conviction, can I get the right to vote back now that I am out of prison?

Maybe. A person with a disqualifying conviction can, sometimes, restore his or her right to vote by applying for a Certificate of Eligibility to Register to Vote (CERV).

You are eligible for a CERV if:

- You have not been convicted of one of the following crimes: Impeachment, murder, rape, sodomy, sexual abuse, sexual crimes against children, or treason.
- You do not have any felony charges currently pending.
- You have paid all legal fines and fees, as well as any victim restitution, ordered by the court that sentenced you for your disqualifying conviction.
- You completed your sentence, were pardoned, or completed probation or parole.

For more information about applying for a CERV, visit the Board of Pardons and Paroles website: <http://www.pardons.state.al.us/Pardons.aspx>. If you are not eligible for a CERV, you can apply for a pardon to restore your voting rights. Whether you receive a pardon is up to the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

What if I have more questions?

If you have additional questions or want help registering to vote or applying for a CERV, call Danielle Lang or Blair Bowie at (202) 736-2200 or visit <http://www.campaignlegalcenter.org/news/blog/alabama-voting-rights-restoration-toolkit>.
