Introduction

In Arizona, the law regarding which people with past criminal convictions can and cannot vote has been confusing. Whether a person can vote depends on how many felony convictions they have, whether they are able to pay their restitution, and whether they have completed their sentence(s). Moreover, some people (but not all) who are eligible to get their right to vote back after a conviction are required to file a request to restore their right – a process that many do not know about. As a result, many Arizonans with past convictions who are eligible to vote simply do not know that they can participate.

But a little bit of education and outreach will go a long way to assisting people to exercise their fundamental right to vote. This manual is designed to arm citizens with convictions, activists, and advocates with all the tools you'll need to help people in Arizona know if they can vote or restore their right to vote

Felony disenfranchisement laws silence the voices of over 6 million citizens who are banned from the polls today. As many as 75 percent of these disenfranchised voters are no longer in prison but are not able to vote.

Citizens with past felony convictions work and pay taxes, and should have a say in deciding their community's and the nation's laws that directly impact their lives. Denying these citizens with past felony convictions the opportunity to fully integrate as members of society sends the message that they will permanently be treated as second-class citizens. Studies have shown that restoring the vote to persons leaving prison could aid their transition back into community life.

Felony disenfranchisement laws were frequently deliberately designed to disempower minority voters. They continue to disproportionately impact people of color and distort our democracy. Disenfranchisement not only impacts individual with past convictions; it also disempowers the minority communities to which many belong.

Some U.S. states have no restrictions on voting, while others have a lifetime ban upon conviction. Twelve states, including Arizona, permanently disenfranchise some or all citizens convicted of felony offenses.

Based on the most recent estimates Arizona's law disenfranchises over 221,100 people in the state: 4.25% of the entire state-wide voting-age population but 11.89% of the adult black male voting-age population. The Latinx community is also disproportionately impacted, making up nearly twenty-eight percent of all disenfranchised persons in the state.

For more information or assistance contact 202-736-2200 or RestoreYourVote@CampaignLegalCenter.org or visit www.Restoreyourvote.org

The good news is that for many people with convictions, their voting rights can be restored. If a person only has a single felony conviction, they are automatically eligible to register to vote again once they have served their time, including probation and parole, and paid off any restitution related to their sentence. For those with multiple convictions, once they have completed their sentence, they may be able to restore their right to vote by applying with the appropriate county clerk.

This manual first details how you can determine what a person's path to rights restoration will look like: if they ever lost their right to vote, if it has been automatically restored, and whether and how they can apply to have it restored. It also includes template versions of the paperwork a person may need to complete and contact information for some groups who can help further.

We hope that this information and material will be of use to those who seek to strengthen democracy and their communities by empowering those whose voices have been silenced by felony disenfranchisement.

Working with Disenfranchised Citizens

When assisting people with convictions, it is important to keep in mind that they may have particular sensitivities and privacy concerns. So, please:

- Be welcoming and personable. Understand that there can be guilt and stigma associated with having a criminal record.
- Be patient. The person you are helping may be emotional or nervous in recalling the details of their conviction. Be aware that other issues may be involved, such as mental health concerns or disability. The person may need assistance with reading and writing.
- Respect the privacy of the person you are assisting. Keep the conversation private by speaking at a reasonable volume and finding a space away from others. All assistance should be confidential.
- Don't pry into their personal business. Questions of innocence or morality regarding their conviction are irrelevant to rights restoration and should not be discussed.
- Do not pass judgment. It is important to enter this work aware of your own biases. Be mindful of your tone of voice and facial expressions. Do not talk down to the people you are assisting. The bottom line is to remember that all people deserve dignity and respect.

The Path to Rights Restoration

This section details the steps to determining the voting rights of people with convictions in Arizona. It will help you determine whether an individual has the right to vote or has the ability to restore their right to vote. It includes many details to thoroughly give information about a range of possible situations. But for most people, rights restoration is not complicated and many of these footnotes and tips will not apply. Helping a person with just one felony conviction restore their rights can be as simple as asking if they have completed their sentence and paid their restitution. If they have, they can immediately register to vote. For people who have multiple convictions, they will need to restore their right by application, if they are eligible.

After you have read through this section or helped a few people through the process, it may be easier to refer to the short Rights Restoration Worksheet and the following flow chart when assisting a person with a conviction.

Step 1: Determine whether a person has a single or more than one felony conviction.

Ask the person you are helping if they have a single or multiple felony convictions. The answer will determine whether their voting rights will be automatically restored or if they will have to apply to get them back.

Misdemeanors and traffic violations are not relevant, only felony convictions. If a person only has misdemeanors or other violations, they never lost the right to vote and can register immediately. If a person is incarcerated but awaiting trial and has no felony convictions yet, they can register and vote even if they are in jail

A. If they have only one felony conviction:

If a person only has one felony conviction, their voting rights will be automatically restored once they have:

(1) completed their sentence, including probation and parole

AND

(2) have paid off any court ordered restitution from the conviction.¹

If they have met both of these conditions, their voting rights are automatically restored and they can register to vote.² Skip to step 3, registering to vote.

If they have not met one or both of these conditions, they will have to wait until they can satisfy both for their voting rights to be automatically restored.

Step 2: Rights restoration for people with multiple convictions

If someone has multiple convictions or owes restitution, their voting rights will not be automatically restored. However, they may be eligible to apply to restore their right to vote through a simple application process. Whether they are eligible depends on whether they have completed their sentence and whether they served time in prison. If eligible, how and where to apply depends on which jurisdiction convicted them.

A . Determine eligibility for rights restoration

To be eligible for rights restoration a person by petition must have completed their sentence including prison time, probation, and parole.

If a person meets these criteria, when a person is eligible to apply depends on whether they served time in prison for their conviction: If they were only sentenced to probation (no prison time), they may apply for rights restoration immediately upon being discharged from probation.³ However, if they were sentenced to any time in prison, they must wait two years after receiving their absolute discharge before they may apply.⁴

Absolute discharges should be issued by the Department of Corrections upon completion of sentence.⁵ If a person should have been absolutely discharged but has not received documentation, they may request it from the Department of Corrections using this form:

https://corrections.az.gov/sites/default/files/absolute_discharge_form_082114.pdf.

² Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 13-912.

³ Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 13-905. There is nothing in the Arizona statutes that requires a person who was only sentenced to probation to pay off their fines, fees, and restitution before applying for rights restoration. However, we believe that some courts may be effectively requiring this, nonetheless. If a person has been discharged from probation but still owes fines and fees and would like to apply to restore their right to vote, please ask them to contact us. See Arizona Dept. of Corrections, “Release Types” https://corrections.az.gov/release-types#ab_discharge; see also, “Request for Absolute Discharge” at ¶ 4, https://corrections.az.gov/sites/default/files/absolute_discharge_form_082114.pdf.

⁴ Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 13-906.

⁵ We do not believe there is proper statutory authority for the Department of Corrections to require payment of legal financial obligations before issuing an absolute discharge. Nonetheless, this is the Department of Correction’s policy. See Arizona Dept. of Corrections, “Release Types” https://corrections.az.gov/release-types#ab_discharge; see also, “Request for Absolute Discharge” at ¶ 4, https://corrections.az.gov/sites/default/files/absolute_discharge_form_082114.pdf.

B. How to apply

If someone meets the eligibility for rights restoration, they may apply to restore their rights with the appropriate county clerk of court – see below for information on where to apply. They should file one form with each of the appropriate clerks that lists all of the convictions over which that clerk has jurisdiction. They themselves must take these forms to be filed. If their convictions are covered by different jurisdictions, they must file a separate form with each clerk. Some counties have their own form; where possible they should use the form of the corresponding county. We have included Pima County's form on page 23 and Maricopa County's form can be found here:

<https://superiorcourt.maricopa.gov/media/4212/crrr1z.pdf>.

The petitions include a place to submit other information that the court could take into consideration, such as successful re-entry into society: job, leadership responsibilities, caretaking responsibilities (children, elderly, disabled), schooling, housing, and/or volunteer work. Including positive changes made since release and why it is important to have one's civil rights/voting rights restored may improve the petition.

If the person served prison time, they must include the certificate of absolute discharge with their application. If they only served probation and have documentation of their discharge from probation, they should include that. For residents of Maricopa County, you will need the date that you completed probation; you may obtain the date from the Maricopa County Probation Office, 602-506-7249.

If a person does not have a copy of their absolute discharge, it can be requested through the department of corrections. That form is included on page 19 and can also be found here:

https://corrections.az.gov/sites/default/files/absolute_discharge_form_082114.pdf. That form may be signed with an e-signature and mailed to ADCABSDISCH@azadc.gov.

The absolute discharge can also be obtained in person by visiting the Records Department, Arizona Department of Corrections, 1601 West Jefferson Street, Phoenix, AZ 85007.

To check the status of your request, call Central Office Records at 602-542-3277.

Requests for absolute discharges may take up to 4-6 weeks to process.

C. Where to file

Where to file the application for rights restoration depends on which court issued the

For more information or assistance contact 202-736-2200 or RestoreYourVote@CampaignLegalCenter.org or visit www.Restoreyourvote.org felony convictions for the applicant. If multiple convictions were issued by separate courts, one form should be filed in each place. Those forms may list all the relevant convictions for that court. They should be filed with the clerk of court. A list of the addresses of each county's clerks of court can be found on page 25.

- If the conviction was in Arizona state court, the petition should be filed in the county of conviction.

- If the conviction was in Federal (United States) court, the petition should be filed in the Arizona county where the person resides.

- If the conviction was in another state, the person will need to follow that state's restoration process. If you have an out of state conviction and wish to vote in Arizona, please visit restoreyourvote.org for information on the restoration process in the state of your conviction.

The petition for rights restoration is at the discretion of the judge. That means that they might not always restore voting rights for people who apply. The result can take up to 90 days.

Step 3: Registering to Vote

To register to vote, a person must completely fill out the state voter registration form on page 25 (27 for Spanish), or the national mail-in registration form, and hand deliver or mail it to the appropriate county recorder's office 29 days before an election. If sent by mail, the form must either be received no later than five days after the last day to register to vote in the next election or be postmarked 29 days or more before the election and received by the County Recorder by 7 p.m. on Election Day.

Voter registration can also be completed online at www.azsos.gov.

Proof of Citizenship Requirements

Arizona requires documentary proof of citizenship to vote in state elections, however, it is not required to vote in Federal elections. These differing standards have previously led to confusion and burdens for people registering to vote. In June 2018, Campaign Legal Center reached a settlement agreement with the Secretary of State of Arizona and the Maricopa County Recorder over a lawsuit challenging the state's overly burdensome voter registration process. Here's what you need to know to register voters in Arizona going forward.

Do voters need to provide documentary proof of citizenship (DPOC) to register?

For more information or assistance contact 202-736-2200 or RestoreYourVote@CampaignLegalCenter.org or visit www.Restoreyourvote.org

Voters do NOT need DPOC to register to vote in federal elections but DO need DPOC to vote in state and local elections. If a voter has DPOC, they should provide a copy of it. But if they do not have DPOC, they should still register to vote and they will be able to vote in federal elections only (e.g. President, Senator, Congressperson) until they provide a form of DPOC.

What counts as DPOC?

The following will suffice:

- AZ Driver's license number (they can write this on the registration form)
- Photocopy of birth certificate
- Photocopy of U.S. passport
- Naturalization documents or naturalization certificate number
- Tribal card number (they can write this number on the registration form)

What if a voter has moved from another county and is updating their voter registration?

They need to re-submit DPOC with the updated registration. By 2020, the system will be automated so this will not be necessary but for now, re-submit DPOC.

What if a voter doesn't have any DPOC?

They can still register to vote! They will be registered for federal elections only (e.g. President, Senator, Congressperson) until they provide a form of DPOC. If the Arizona Motor Vehicles Division has proof of his or her citizenship in their database, they will be registered for all elections (federal, state, and local).

What if voters don't have DPOC on them when you encounter them at a voter registration drive?

That's OK! They can still register to vote with your drive to make sure they are registered before the deadline, which is 29 days before any election. If they submit a registration form to you without DPOC, they will receive a notice in the mail from the County Recorder asking for DPOC and a form for submitting it. They can provide DPOC to the County Recorder after the registration deadline and still qualify to vote for all elections. They have until 5 p.m. Thursday before Election Day to submit DPOC. Remember, regardless of DPOC, they can still vote in federal elections!

How does a voter submit DPOC after they already submitted a voter registration form?

They should receive a notice from the County Recorder that includes a form to

For more information or assistance contact 202-736-2200 or RestoreYourVote@CampaignLegalCenter.org or visit www.Restoreyourvote.org accompany the DPOC. They can submit DPOC by mail with that form. Encourage voters to include the submission form provided by the County Recorder with their DPOC to make the process easier. They can also go in person to the County Recorder to submit DPOC.

What if a voter submits DPOC but misses the deadline for submitting DPOC before an election?

They will only be able to vote in federal elections for this election. They will be able to vote in federal, state, and local elections in future elections.

Sólo se necesita una forma de comprobación para registrarse para votar.

Lo siguiente es una lista de los documentos aceptables para establecer su ciudadanía:

- Una fotocopia legible de un acta de nacimiento que verifique la ciudadanía y la documentación legal acreditativa (ej. acta de matrimonio) si el nombre en el acta de nacimiento no es igual a su nombre legal actual
- Una fotocopia legible de las páginas pertinentes de su pasaporte
- Presentación al Registrador del Condado de documentos de naturalización de los Estados Unidos o anote su Número de Registro de Extranjero en la casilla 11
- Su Número de Tarjeta de la Oficina de Asuntos de Nativo Americanos, Número de Tarjeta de Tratado Tribal, o Número de Matrícula Tribal en la casilla 10
- Una fotocopia legible de su Certificado Tribal de Sangre Nativo Americana o affidavit de Nacimiento de la Oficina de Asuntos de Nativo Americanos.

Si usted necesita incluir una fotocopia de prueba de ciudadanía, por favor doble la prueba junto con la forma de registro electoral, coloque ambos artículos en un sobre, y envíelos a su Registrador del Condado listado abajo. No envíe documentos originales. Las fotocopias no se le regresarán. Por favor visite www.azsos.gov si tiene usted cualquier pregunta relacionada con los comprobantes aceptables de la ciudadanía.

Si usted está registrado en Arizona y usa el formulario de registro debido a que se mudó dentro de un condado, cambió su nombre, o cambió su afiliación de partido político, no necesita proveer fotocopias de su comprobación de ciudadanía. Si usted se muda a un condado distinto en Arizona, necesitará proveer prueba de ciudadanía.

ACOMODACIONES PARA INDIVIDUOS CON DISCAPACIDADES

Los materiales en formatos alternos, interpretación a señas y dispositivos de audición asistida están disponibles al dar aviso previo de 72 horas a su Registrador del Condado. Al grado que sea posible, se pondrán a la disposición más acomodamientos razonables dentro de las limitaciones de tiempo de la solicitud.
